Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

It may be that Governor Olson thinks he is "the font from whom all blessings flow," but there is growing multitude of Californians who disagree with him. So far as his official family is concerned he is a font of blessings. We have in a sense returned to tribal government. He began the new movement of clan organization by making his own son, his private secretary at $5,000. The family of the director of natural resources, Richard Sachse, now draws down $13,000 a year. Director of institutions, Dr. Aaron J. Rosanoff and daughter, whom he appointed as his administrative assistant, draw down $10,200 a year. The Sperbeck tribal ramifications are also notable. Ivan C. Sperbeck, named confidential secretary to the personnel board, has increased upon the state payroll until now cousins, and aunts, fathers and sons, draw down the neat total of $12,240, nothing spectacular but still substantial.

We shall hear ever and anon, of new tribes that have clustered like flies around a honey pot, organized and delved industriously into the state payroll because, since Olson has stigmatized the relief bill pending before the state legislature, as the "Phillips Famine bill," the economy bloc has been busy turning up facts to prove that there is no famine among the Governor's family or his tribal retainers who live grandly off taxpayers pap.

The Governor is doing his best by radio and "press release" to drive an ice pick into the economy bloc, but it just happens that the legislators of California have received a mandate from their constituents to practice economy—or else. When the Governor threatens a purge for those who refuse to do his extravagant bidding, it is as nothing to what they know their constituents will do to them, if they yield to his maudlin threats and bluster. Anybody with the intelligence of a wren knows that the reason the Governor is so indignant over any proposal to return relief to counties, is solely and precisely because the SRA personnel is not included in the state's civil service, and he can toss the radical pack that yaps constantly at his heels, jobs worth anywhere from $2,000 to $10,000 a year in the SRA. As has been remarked, there is no famine among the plush bottomed overseers of the poor, and any hint that the legislature may curtail overhead in that lush organization to 15 per cent, or such a matter, gripes Mr. Olson like gastric ulcers.

One thing the mountain counties should note well is the fact that Governor Olson is constantly hammering away to reduce the tolls on the Oakland-San Francisco bridge. Every reduction made in those tolls reduces the chance of Northern California getting back any of their road money that was invested therein. It was with that understanding, at least, that once the bridge were built with the help of road money taken out of our mountain county allotments we should have the funds put back into our own much needed improvements. But it now begins to look as if the loan of Northern California road funds to build the bay bridge was as permanent as the loans made to the Allies 25 years ago. We don't hear a peep from any of the Olson administration clans or tribes about reimbursement, and probably we shall not. For Olson can say that those funds were loaned under a Republican administration and he'll be hanged if he can do anything about it, particularly with a persnickety legislature that tears dictatorial telephones out of the wall and defies him in most of his prodigal schemes for reducing taxpayers to the soup queues.

This logic leads us to the easy and natural conclusion that the only way to get our road funds back is to reinstate a Republican regime in Sacramento. Meantime we must do the best we can with the narrow and winding roads that lead from Nevada City to Auburn and to Downieville. We will have to wait two years and probably more, for road relief. For we do not believe there is any virtue in recalling Olson, or for that matter, any probability. In fact we would rather see him stew and suffer in his present impotence than have him replaced by some political nondescript whose only likely virtue would be the ability to steal the bone while the incumbent's attention was fixed on the Ham and Egger pack.

COYOTES IN BIG BEND COUNTRY GAIN IN NUMBERS

Coyotes seem to be increasing both as to average size and to number on the Big Bend district of the Tahoe national forest according to District Ranger John R. Hodgson at Soda Springs. Unless much early trapping is done, he predicts for next season considerable losses to the sheepmen and inroads into deer herds. A recent trip into the back country showed coyotes to be running in packs of five to seven with tracks about every half mile. The heaviest concentration being in the vicinity of the Cedars, Tinkers Knob and Castle Peak above Soda Springs. There was a noticeable reduction in the snow shoe rabbit population where the tracks were more evident and noticeable increase in areas not frequented by the coyotes. Caretakers of mountain homes who previously helped keep the coyote population down by trapping states that the present price of about $2 a pelt is not sufficient to encourage trapping. Hodgson is informed that the State Division of Fish and Game is planning to investigate the more thickly infested areas.

Former President Herbert Hoover will speak tonight over the Blue Network between 7 and 7:45 p. m. He will make his address in Omaha.

NEVADA COUNTY SAFETY COUNCIL ISSUES WARNING

The Nevada County Safety Council states that "the experfence which we have had with motor vehicles in the United States lead us to ask this question quite seriously: Can we really control the motor vehicle or are we going to let it continue to master us? We shall use the term motor vehicle rather than automobile in our discussion because we want to think about trucks, busses, passenger cars and all other kinds of motor vehicles which are driven on our streets and highways. Up to the present time we must admit that we have done a very poor job of operating this rather recent of mans invetions.

"We must try to see the facts clearly in order that we may fully realize just what a big job we have on out hands in learning to become safe drivers. The truth is that, if we do not learn to do a better job of driving motor vehicles than we are doing, we had better just stop our feeble efforts completely and cast our invention on the junk heap. This would be an honest admission that we are unable to master the motor car, but that would be better than to keep on killing and injuring people as we are now doing. But would it not be much more courageous for us to make up our minds to face the problem squarely and set about with determination to solve it? That would mean, of course, finding out what the causes of our failures are then using our intelligence to correct the trouble. Then our motor cars can be made to serve us as a helpful friend rather than as a means of injury and destruction."

UREN DRAWS PLANS TO IMPROVE GAULT BRIDGE

City Engineer Ed C. Uren is drawing plans for improvements on the Gault bridge and when these are completed they will be submitted to WPA headquarters for approval. When approved work will start. Plans are also being made to widen Clark street under a WPA project. This street is very narrow and carries heavy automobile and truck traffic.

APPORTIONMENT OF ROAD FUNDS IS ANNOUNCED

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 12.—Nevada County will receive $11,063.33 as its share of the 1939 apportionment of motor vehicle registration fees, it was announced today by Howard R. Philbrick, Director of the Department of Motor Vehicles.

Gross receipts for the year were $12,361,617,45, Philbrick said, from which is deducted $4,367,514.24 for support of the Department of Motor Vehicles, and $35,000.00 for the support of the Bureau of Criminal Identification, leaving a balance of $7,959,103.21 which is divided equally between the State Highway Fund and the various counties for road and highway purposes.

Receipts for 1939 were $884,655.34 greater than for 1938 and show an increase of 109,965 in number of fee paid vehicle registrations, Philbrick stated, adding that the total number of fee paid vehicles now stands at 2,773,698, a new record figure.

Registration fee apportionments to the counties are based upon the number of fee paid motor vehicle registrations in the county and include passenger cars, trucks, motorcycles and trailers. Each county will receive $1.42 for every motor vehicle registered therein during the period covered by this apportionment, Philbrick said.

Los Angeles county leads the list with 1,135,578 fee paid registrations and receives the largest apportionment, amounting to $1,629,265.78. Alameda county is second with 190,929 registrations, receiving an apportionment of $273,934.58. In the third place is San Francisco county with 188,695 registrations and an apportionment of $270,729.36.

Mrs. Louisa Devencinzi, mother of Mrs. Frank Finnegan, passed away in Jones Memorial Hospital in Grass Valley at about 6 o'clock last evening. Holmes Funeral Home prepared the remains for burial and shipment to San Francisco today.

Mrs. Devencinzi was born in Amador county March 20, 1875. She came to this city about two weeks ago for medical attention. She has resided in San Francisco many years and was prominent in social circles.

There are several children beside Mrs. Finnegan, grandchildren, and and aged mother left to mourn her passing. Attorney and Mrs. Finnegan accompanied the remains to San Francisco and will remain until after funeral services are over.

MIGRANT LABOR, RURAL HOUSING ARE DISCUSSED

California's vital migratory labor problem and the attendant phases of housing and sanitation formed the basis for several official discussions and reports in San Francisco last week.

Out of one meeting, called by Carey McWilliams, chief of the State Division of Immigration and Housing, and attended by representatives of the Federal and State governments, the State Chamber of Commerce, and the Associated Farmers, emerged initial plans for a statewide rural housing survey, expected to be authorized within 30 days.

Various spokesmen differed sharply on the scope of this survey.

Associated Farmer spokesmen urged that housing improvements be on a private basis and should not be based on the present over supply of labor, as this would "serve to increase the influx of agricultural workers into the state."

McWilliams felt the survey should include all rural housing, while Jas. Sharp, WPA supervisor of research and records, contended it should deal primarily with the needs of agricultural labor.

Simultaneously, the State Chamber of Commerce released a report prepared by Dr. Lee Alexander Stone, Madera county health officer who declared (1) That the State and Federal governments should not keep alive professional indigency by building camps, but should turn the money over to farmers and allow them to build proper housing accommodations for farm workers, and (2) That birth control should be encouraged among migrants.

Dr. Stone said the migrant worker influx is increasing.

NOBEL RECORDS REVEAL U. S. AS SCIENCE HAVEN

BERKELEY, Feb. 12.—Indicative of the manner in which the United States is both developing and attracting the top rank scientists of the world, five of the last Nobel Prize winners in physics are now working in this country. Two of them, Dr. Enrico Fermi of Columbia University and Dr. Ernest Orlando Lawrence are now on the campus of the University of California, Dr. Fermi as the holder of the Hitchcock professorship and Dr. Lawrence as head of the University's radiation laboratory.

Facts and figures on the Nobel Prize winners in physics announced by Professor Raymond T. Birge, the chairman of the department of physics, reveal the impressive part that this country is playing in the development of physics studies. Nine of the physics Nobel winners are now in the United States. The five mentioned by Professor Birge as being among the most recent winners working here are Doctors Carl D. Anderson and V. G. Hess, both of the California Institute of Technology, who won the prize jointly in 1936; Dr. Clinton J. Davidson of the Bell Telephone Company laboratories who shared the prize with Dr. George P. Thompson, noted British physicist in 1937, and Drs. Fermi and Lawrence, who won the prize in 1938 and 1939 respectively. The other four winners now working in this country are Dr. Albert Einstein, expounder of the famed Einstein Theory now at the Institute of Advanced Study of Princeton University; winner in 1921; Dr. Robert Andrews Millikan, University of Chicago, winner in 1923; Dr. James Franck, Johns Hopkins University, winner in 1925, with Dr. Gustav Hertz of Germany, and Dr. Arthur Holly Compton, University of Chicago, winner in 1937 and Dr. Charles Thomas Rees Wilson, another noted British physicist.

Miss Jacqueline Bertz and Miss Helen Lamon, accompanied by Harley M. Leete Jr. and Laurence Arpin, all senior students in the University of California, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Leete of Prospect Hill over the week end. The young folks greatly enjoyed two days of skiing at Soda Springs.

CLIFF HUGHES HELD ON THEFT CHARGE

Cliff Hughes, laborer on a dredge near Nevada City, was released from the county jail today on a $250 bail after being held overnight on a charge of petty theft. The warrant for his arrest was sworn out by C. K. Heffner of Grass Valley.

Hughes allegedly made a down payment on an automobile with welding equipment that belonged to a Los Angeles firm.

George Davidson, 23, and Boyd Labrum, 21, were arrested last night at LeBarr Meadows on charges of disturbing the peace. Labrum was further charged with striking an officer.

The sheriff's office reported that every available bed was occupied at the county jail last night. This morning 21 were served breakfast.

WARREN KITTS IS SUMMONED

Warren Kitts, aged 41 years, passed away in a Sacramento hospital this morning after an illness of four months. He suffered a stroke of paralysis a week ago and this proved fatal.

He leaves a wife in Sacramento; daughter, Mrs. Tom Arden, two grandchildren, two little daughters of Mrs. Arden in Nevada City; mother, Mrs. Theresa Kitts who is visiting in Southern California, and two half brothers, C. Benton Ebaugh and James Ebaugh. Daryl Kitts, local highway traffic officer is a cousin.

Funeral services will be held in Sacramento Wednesday morning and graveside services will be held in Pine Grove Cemetery at Nevada City, where interment will be made in the family plot.

SMALL BOY GIVES HIS MOTHER BAD FRIGHT

Little Wayne Kistle, while playing about his home on the Murchie mine road recently, decided he wanted to go mining and started out. In a few minutes his mother, Mrs. Woodrow Kistle, who was washing clothes, missed him and ran towards the woods calling and looking into every old mine shaft where there was water, thinking the little chap may have fallen into one of them.

Almost exhausted she turned toward home and was thankful to see him returning with a neighbor, Mrs. Mosco Smart. He had gone in the opposite direction along the Murchie road to the Smart home. It took Mrs. Kistle several days to recover from fright and exhaustion.

HIGHWAY GROUP NAMES OFFICERS

Election of officers and acceptance of an offer from San Francisco for sponsorship of WPA survey project marked a meeting of the board of directors of the new Northern California Counties Highway Conference in Sacramento.

M. C. Merrell of Tuolumne County, was elected president. W. T. Ellis, Yuba County, secretary, and J. G. Veneman, Stanislaus County 1st vice president.

Among the regional vice-presidents selected wer Gail Apperson, Marin North Coast counties; J. W. Monroe, Glenn, Sacramento area; J. A. Lynch, San Mateo, South Coast; A. T. Jessen, Shasta, Shasta-Cascade.

By unanimous vote the directors accepted an offer from Harold J. Boyd, chairman of San Francisco's Regional Service Committee, for a San Francisco allocation of up to $10,000 as sponsor's contribution of a WPA project to survey and compile data concerning existing highways, needs for new highways, farm to market road problems and other economic data.

An official request for such sponsorship was forwarded to San Francisco and a meeting of regional vice-presidents was scheduled for San Francicsco on March 7 to map out the survey.

It was announced that 18 counties have adopted resolutions of adherence to the conference. Representatives of 15 of these counties were present. In addition three counties —Alpine, Mono and Solano— sent representatives, though they had not as yet adopted membership resolutions. Such adoption is expected in the near future.

SKI CONDITIONS WORST IN YEARS

Skiing conditions in the Donner Trail area are poorer than for any year during the past ten seasons, according to information gathered by District Ranger John R. Hodgson at Soda Springs from old timers in that vicinity. While the total precipitation has not been low, temperatures have been abnormally high for the season and have resulted in an abnormal amount of rain all along the canyon bottom followed by Highway 40. Skiing has been generally poor blow an elevation of 6000 feet. In a recent trip to the Huysink snow course, Hodgson had a good opportunity to see the difference in skiing conditions on successive elevations. At the course itself where snow is measured and water content determined for the information of the State Division of Water Resources, over five feet of snow was found while at Cisco ordinarily covered by ten or twelve feet, there is a depth of only twelve inches. At the foot of Mt. McIntosh, skiing was poor but with only 1000 feet in rise, it was excellent.

Bolton's Variety Store opened this morning in its new quarters at Broad and Pine streets. Throngs of admiring patrons and friends "ohed and ahed" as they got their first glimpse of the store's spacious and well lighted display of the thausands of household articles offered in orderly, brightly painted counters and glass shelving. New lighting fixtures, new counters, and a colorful array of merchandise, along with lovely bouquets and baskets of flowers bearing the good wishes of friends and Nevada City business firms, helped to make the opening of Bolton's in its new location a great success.

Grandpa Roosevelt

The energetic, colorful Roosevelts, from Theodore to Franklin D., have been great family people. They like children. There are always lots of Roosevelt kids and grandchildren growing up—and they are immensely popular with their doting elders. Last week Roosevelt the President collided with Roosevelt the Grandpa. On the first day in months when the President thought himself free of officialdom long enough to promise to lunch with Buzzie Dahl, he discovered at the last minute that he had a luncheon meeting scheduled with cabinet members and ambassadors. President Roosevelt decided reluctantly to disappoint the boy. But Granddad Roosevelt objected, and won his point—so Buzzie sat happily in at the conference, cheek to jowl with men threshing out weighty affairs of state.

There may be significance to this that the shrewdest political guessers have overlooked. Should the President declare against running again, the prophets will figure that he feared the growing opposition to a third term, or suspected that the New Deal is losing popularity, and so on. But it's altogether possible that Grandpa Roosevelt may simply yearn for a little leisure from public pressure, when he can lunch, like any other citizen with his family.—Contributed.

Just Wonderin'

I wonder at the lesson of the hills—
The strange, serrated ranges of the west,
With here and there a loftier, nobler form
Keeping eternal watch above the rest;
So runs the story of our human kind
Above the great and small, the strong, the weak and sad,
Arise immortal guardians of the heights
And by them we are strengthened and made glad.

I wonder if any one traveling toward the Oregonian line, via the Sacramento valley, could possibly fail to be deeply moved by the first glimpses of that superb monarch of the north, Mount Shasta.

This great mountain of light and beauty, is first discernible from the upper reaches of the Sacramento valley; henceforth it seems to dominate the ever changing landscape, to beckon and to lead the way. At times it is lost to view as one dips down into dark canyons or rounds an intervening hill; but soon its gracious form is seen again, more wonderful and beautiful than before, still beckoning, still leading the way.

We came to Mount Shasta once from the north, in the blackness of night, after having driven all day through a furious storm of wind and rain. The great mountain was cloud enshrouded, not a single outline was visible. We secured lodgings for the night and went to sleep while the storm still raged and roared.

We awoke to a world made new; the storm had gone its way and golden sunlight fell from undimmed skies of blue, and there, garbed in robes of sparkling white and crowned by the opalescent light of early morning stood His Majesty Mount Shasta. A breath taking spectacle, beauty and grandeur never to be forgotten; an inspiration and a joy forever.

I wonder if in this, there exists a similitude to the panorama of man's existence upon this little troubled planet. Is it not true that above the restless ranks of those who strive well or ignobly, win or fall, above the boastful great and strong, the inarticulate weak and sad, rare souls arise to claim the heights, to beckon and to lead the way?

Each year at this season we celebrate the birthdays of two immortal guardians of the heights, Washington and Lincoln, and in the contemplation of their lives and characters, their ideals of citizenship and their love and devotion to the land they served, we are lifted up, strengthened and reassured.

By their sublime courage in times of grim adversity,
By their unwavering belief in the ultimate triumph of right,
By their supreme devotion to America, her institutions and her flag,
By her heroic faith in her high destiny—we shall be led.

—A. MERRIAM CONNER.

ENTIRE STATE AWAITS SENATE ACTION ON FAIR

TREASURE ISLAND ON SAN FRANCISCO BAY, Feb. 12.—With $515,000 voted by the California Assembly to assure success of the 1940 Golden Gate International Exposition, eyes of the entire state were focused on the Senate in anticipation of favorable action on the appropriation measure this week.

That the requested appropriation, if finally made, will constitute an investment, rather than a gift, and will yield handsome dividends in new state revenues, has been amply demonstrated by reliable statistics. These statistics, compiled by Californians, Inc., and other promotional organizations, reveal that the state will receive between $5,000,000 and $7,000,000 in new revenues as the result of the 1940 exposition.

Meanwhile two western states already have expressed their confidence in the value of the fair in '40 by their decision to participate again this year. They are Nevada and Utah. Governors of both states voiced their enthusiasm for the exposition declaring their belief that money spent in participation constituted sound business investment.

At the same time Robert Gordon Sproul, president of the University of California, has endorsed the 1940 Golden Gate International Exposition declaring it to be of inestimable educational value.

During the past week further enthusiasm for the '40 fair was indicated when 15 valley and Sierra Nevada counties, comprising the membership of Alta California, Inc., notified General Manager W. W. Monahan that the Alta California Building, one of the exposition show spots during 1939, will again be opened this year. Edward Morris, managing director of the inter-county group, declared that it stands ready to finance its own participation without state aid and will spend a large amount of money in bettering the county displays.

Governor Loyd C. Stark, of Missouri was another to endorse the '40 fair. In a letter to President Marshall Dill he gave the assurance of Missouri's support this year and expressed the hope of active participation of his state.

With endorsements and assurances of participation being received daily, W. W. Henry, Jr., states commissioner of the exposition is touring the 11 western states and reports enthusiastic receptions accorded him and universal interest in the Fair in '40.

Interest in the success of the 1940 exposition was still further displayed when the General Electric Company last week signed up for the largest block of exhibit space yet contracted for.

According to Allen J. Jones, company representative, more than $250,000 will be spent by the General Electric Company on the exhibit, which will occupy the entire northwest corner of the Palace of Electricity.

The exhibit will include a 1940 production of the "House of Magic," which was featured last year.

Cooperating with the counties of California, the Golden Gate International Exposition this week has an official photographer making a tour in search of beautiful girls to represent each county when the fair is opened May 25.

These individual county beauties will participate in the opening ceremonies and take part in various exposition functions.

This week the camera-man will visit the Mission Trails counties of San Mateo, Santa Clara, Santa Cruz, Monterey, San Benito, San Luis Obispo and Ventura. Next week he will tour the Redwood Empire counties on the northern California coast, while the following week he is scheduled to tour the valley and Sierra-Nevada counties of the Alta California group.

The following weeks he will photograph county beauties of the San Joaquin Valley, Sacramento and the Shasta Cascade areas. Further photographic schedules, which will take in the balance of the California counties will be announced later.

Nation wide publicity will be given the fair in '40 through advertising appropriations totaling $2,500,000 made by railway companies alone, in which the exposition will be featured.

DRAMATIC FILM OF BLOODY ERA HERE TUESDAY

One of the bloodiest and most dramatic periods in all history, the fighting 15th century, will reach the screen for the first time when Universal's "Tower of London" opens tomorrow at the Nevada Theatre.

A year in the making, the new drama offers Basil Rathbone in perhaps his strongest role as the diabolic Richard III, infamous "Crookback" king, and includes some of Hollywood's ablest dramatic players in its cast of hundreds.

Boris Karloff of "Frankenstein" and other horror roles also has a powerful part as Richard's ally, and fearsome executioner of the Tower. Ian Hunter is seen as Edward IV and Barbara O'Neil follows her hit performance in "When Tomorrow Comes" with the role of Edward's wife, Elyzabeth.

Nan Grey and John Sutton portray the romantic leads and Vincent Price, Miles Mander, Rose Hobart Ralph Forbes, Frances Robinson, Ernest Cossart, G. P. Huntley, Donnie Dunagan and Ronald Sinclair are other principals.

Brothers Rowland V. and Robert N. Lee, producer director and writer, respectively, collaborated in filming a story which parellels closely actual and gory historical records. They chose the 15th century as a background because it was a time of virile action and constant warfare when both romance and fighting were carried on within the shadow of the scaffold or the border of the battlefield.

The story centers around the life of Richard whose ambitions and treachery lead him to destroy five who stand between him and the throne. Among his victims are the "two little princes in the Tower."

COUNTY SUPERVISORS ARE VETERAN GROUP

They're a veteran lot, these California county supervisors.

In a statewide survey of the people who make our county laws, Regional News Service discovered, among other things, that extremely long service is the rule rather than the exception among supervisors, that 68.8 of the lawmakers come from the ranks of agriculture, that politically they are overwhelming registered Republican.

And, in a world where women have invaded all the so-called masculine realms, California has only one woman supervisor (unless others are concealed behind initials and male occupations.) The lone woman is Edith G. Williams, Carrville, Trinity County.

San Benito led the counties in the length of service for its supervisors. The average service is 21 years. And three supervisors—W. J. Buchanan, Contra Costa; W. O. Russel, Yolo, and E. B. Edson, Yolo—have served 35 years each!

Mrs. G. VonDornum of Boulder street was called to Susanville the latter part of last week to be with her mother who is quite ill.

Ray Murchie and William Davey, of the Alpha Hardware Stores of Nevada City and Grass Valley respectively, will leave next week to attend the annual Northern California convention of hardware men in San Francisco. The meeting will be held in Hotel Whitcomb on the roof garden where three or four hundred men gather for this yearly event.
